He must compete with 20 people to get the job in the office. At this time his wife (Linda) left Chris and Christopher to work in New York. Chris does not have house and money, but finally he gets the job in Dean Whittler as stockbroker.

After watching this movie the researcher is interested in analyzing the The Pursuit of Happyness because it is an interesting movie; there are four aspects that make this movie really interesting. The first is the movie shows clearly strive of Chris Gardner ,it be can seen when Chris Gardner wife left him, then he lost his house, his bank account, and credit cards. He is evicted from his house. And he goes to jail. He is robbed and hit by a car and forced to live out in the streets with his son, Chris is desperate to find a steady job, he takes on a job as a stockbroker, but before he can get paid, he needs to go through 6 months of training, and to sell his device, in the other word he work for nothing due to his first month in that firm. So Chris Gardner is a good example for people who wants to struggle with their problems and live.

The second aspect is The Pursuit of Happiness movie is completed by love story between Chris Gardner and Linda. Chris Gardner and his wife Linda live in a small apartment with their son, Christopher. But by selling bone-density scanner makes Chris be disappointed to what he has done and it makes, his family be broken. This movie is touchable, where a husband is left by his wife because financial problem.

The third is The Pursuit of Happiness movie based on true story; It is drama which has great actors that make the movie easy to understand. Outside of the father and the son roles that form the essence of the story, the rest of the actors, however, are given limited screen time. There is obviously good chemistry between the two Smiths, it seems that and they did not need to act to perform although delving deeper into their characters could have improved the movie and turned it from good to great. Director Gabriele Muccino captures and highlights in a dramatic context nuances of the father and son relationship. The movie's main achievement is bringing the real life story of Chris Gardner to the theaters and voicing its message to the whole world. The whole family will find an up lifting story in the movie though it would be good especially for fathers and sons to watch the film together and it gives positive and optimistic for the audience.

The Last is The Pursuit of Happyness movie has moral message based on real life. The moral of the story is as in Gardner's statement "Don't let anyone convince you to give up on your dreams". The Pursuit of Happiness tells what happens to Chris after the end of the movie, it promises that it will have a story than another. The film is also marred by a persistent voiceover that adds nothing to the story while frequently jerking out of the experience of watching it.

In the literary review there are many approaches likes: feminist, Individual psychological, sociological, psychoanalytic and Marxist. Individual psychological is one of approach that has main a study of humanist psychological with Alfred Adler as the pioneer of Individual psychological.

According to Adler as quoted by (Feist, 1985: 64) individual psychology insists on the fundamental unity of personality. All apparent dichotomies and multiplicities of life are organized in one-self consistent totally no definite definition that can be made between reason and emotion. All behavior is seen in relation to the final goal of superiority or success. This goal gives direction and unity to the individual. Psychologically mature individual is generally more conscious of his or her feeling and the motivation behind behavior is the psychotic or severely neurotic person, but even the behavior of the mature person is to large degree guided and controlled by unconscious instincts. (Feist. 1985: 22)
