DINA MAULIDA. A 320090255. THE PLIGHT OF BEING BLACK REFLECTED IN TATE TAYLOR’S THE HELP MOVIE (2011): A MARXIST APPROACH. RESEARCH PAPER. MUHAMMADIYAH UNIVERSITY OF SURAKARTA.

In this study is primarily proposed to analyze how the plight of being black reflected in Tate Taylor’s The Help movie (2011) viewed from Marxist approach, and to analyze the movie based on its structural elements. In analyzing The Help movie, the writer conducts the study by using a descriptive qualitative study. There are two data source in this study, primary and secondary data. The primary data source is the play of The Help movie itself and the secondary data source are the sources that relate to the primary data, such as author’s biography, books or e-books, journal, internet or any information relate the issue of this study “the plight of being black” and social background of American society in the middle twentieth century. The data are collected by using two kinds of technique, the first is note taking and the second is image capturing. The result of this study shows that there is the plight of being black in America at the 1960’s period, and at the time in America happened the struggle to be equal for taking out from segregation era. In The Help movie (2011), Tate Taylor wants to show that this is the real life happened in America, and he wants people to know that there is no separated treatment in human although each people have different color, culture, ideology, and the like.

Keywords: Being Black, The Help, Marxist Approach
A. Introduction

1. Background of the Study

The plight is the situation of life that unpleasant or difficult, especially an unfavorable or unlucky one: to get oneself in a regretful plight. The plight here is about the plight of being black especially in America. Moreover, the plight of being black is so distressing for the reason that they have to complete the command of their white master. The blacks are always implicit as the inferior in the society. In along history, blacks are minority people who are underestimated by whites and they become poor people with the lack of knowledge and dexterity. The white people made the black people as their slaves. As the minorities in society, sometimes the blacks were treated unjustly by the whites. Many states conceded laws saying that black people and white people could not use the same facilities, such as schools, restaurants, parks, and public bathrooms. Such separating people based on their race, color, sex, religion, or age is called segregation. This condition makes the social distinction between the blacks and the whites. In generally, the blacks have been subtracted by the whites.

The Help is a 2011 American drama film adaptation of Kathryn Stockett’s novel of the same name. This film was adapted for the screen and directed by Tate Taylor. The setting of The Help movie is in Jackson, Mississippi, and the stars Emma Stone as Skeeter, Viola Davis as Aibileen, Octavia Spencer as Minny, Bryce Dallas Howard as Hilly Holbrook, Jessica Chastain as Celia Foote, Sissy Spacek as Mrs. Walters, mother’s Hilly Holbrook, and Allison Janney as Charlotte, mother’s Skeeter. This film produced by Dream Works Studios and distributed by Touchstone Pictures.

There are four points that make this movie interesting to be analyzed. Firstly, The Help describes racial discrimination of African American family and white family. Secondly, The Help reflects cultural values of African American people in America. Thirdly, describes social background of America in 1960. Racism in the United States has been a major issue since the colonial era and the slave era. Finally, the present I will be a teacher later and this project is necessary to be carried out to widen, enlarge, and insert more knowledge to my professional competence as teacher. So this is one of the requirements of being the professional teacher.

2. Marxist Approach Analysis

a. Karl Marx’s Marxist Approach

According to Suseno (2001:5), “Marxism is the term for ideology about the relation between economic, social and political concept”. While according to Forgacs (1986:166), “Marxism is a living body of thought and a set of real political practices and can operate on the assumption that literature can be properly understood only within a larger framework of social reality.”

In The Help movie (2011) reflects the Marxist approach of Karl Marx. The plight of being black as the issue of this movie shows the aspects of Marxist theory. In this film can be found some dialectical materialism that’s had by the major character because they struggle to against the oppressor. Historical materialism can be reflected in The Help movie (2011) story. It is can be seen in the form of its characters and characterization, setting and style. In this movie, the character is divided into two groups, those are the white people as high social class and colored people as low social class.

In The Help movie (2011), there is struggle that done by the oppressed class. But in this movie, the struggle is done by Skeeter as high class woman. And the colored maid, Aibileen and Minny. And then, there is result of struggle that's done by Skeeter, Aibileen, Minny and other maids. In this situation, after Skeeter writes the bad treatment that’s done by white people for colored people, the result is coming. After it, there is scene that the lower class be alienated because they struggle to white people as high class. In this film, the characters get alienation are Minny, Yule Mae and Aibileen.

b. Basic Concept of Being Black

The concept of being black is also analyzed in this movie. The concept of being black is also analyzed in this movie. There are some result of the analyses. Firstly, Materialist Orientation reflects a physical-material objectification emphasis in life (emphasis on physical characteristics, clothes, money, things, etc). Materialist orientation is detected to be the plight of being black as the issue in this movie. In this situation, physical-material emphasis in this movie, it can be seen in the characters of Yule Mae, Aibileen and Minny. They are as the colored maids gets the bad treatment from white person. Secondly, Individualist Orientation reflects an I/Me emphasis in life. In The Help movie (2011), the individualist orientation elaborated about the issue of The Help movie (2011) is the plight of being black shows. In this situation, the individualist is got by Skeeter, she is emphasis in herself to write the controversial book. Then, got by Aibileen and Minny, they are emphasis in themselves to reveal the truth of their feeling during working as the colored maid for white family. It is the beginning of the problem of segregation end.

Thirdly, Alien-Self Orientation reflects a general Eurocentric values emphasis in one’s self-concept and general approach to life. In The Help movie (2011), alien-self orientation in this movie is happened when the first of the entire problem happened. From the separate bathroom, and accused Aibileen as the thief. It is the plight of being black in this film. Fourthly, Anti-Self Orientation reflects the Alien-Self emphasis along with negativity and hostility toward Blackness/Africanity. In The Help movie (2011), there are some scene that shows anti-self orientation. Anti-self orientation itself tells about the hostility for the blackness. And it’s really happened in America 1960’s period. But actually in that era is happened the segregation era.

Fifthly, Self-Destructive Orientation reflects an emphasis on self-group injurious and anti-social and/or criminal thoughts and behaviors. In The Help movie (2011), there are some scene that shows self-destructive orientation. Self-destructive in The Help movie (2011) itself shows the plight of being black as the issue in this movie also reflect the anti social or criminal that’s in this movie. It’s happened when Yule Mae is arrested by the policemen, Mae Mobley is been angry by her mother because mother’s thought about closet that will be delivered the serious disease and the nigger got shot so the colored people in the bus have to be off.. Sixthly, Integration Orientation reflects a dominant emphasis on the inclusion/involvement of non-Blacks (namely Whites) in one’s life. In The Help movie (2011), there are some scene that shows integration orientation. In the formulation about integration orientation in The Help movie (2011), there is an integration orientation between Skeeter with Aibileen, Hilly with Elizabeth, and Celia Foote with Minny.

There are some result of the analyses. The result of this study shows that there is the plight of being black in America at the 1960’s period, and at the time in America happened the struggle to be equal for taking out from segregation era. In The Help movie (2011), Tate Taylor wants to show that this is the real life happened in America, and he wants people to know that there is no separated treatment in human although each people have different color, culture, ideology, and the like.

D. Conclusion

In The Help movie (2011), the writer analyses this film using Marxist approach. After analyzing this movie using Marxist approach, the writer gets the following conclusions:

First, based on the structural analysis of The Help movie (2011) directed Tate Taylor as the literary work, the analyze of structural elements can make into a good part of this research paper. In choosing all of the need in this movie is appropriate so the viewer can interest to watch this movie. Tate Taylor wants to convey to the viewer that this is reality of the condition of America in the 1960’s period through the major characters. And The Help movie shows the condition of Jackson, Mississippi. At the time, there is struggle of black people to come out from segregation. And the moral message that wants conveyed by the director, he wants to give people to know that there is no separated treatment in human, although each people have different skin, culture, ideology, etc. In this movie, White people give responses, opinions, and sympathy and discrimination to the low class or colored people condition in that time.

Second, The Help movie also shows the struggle of the colored people and also a white woman. They are struggle the white people that’s too racial the different skin, actually the feelings being black people. Skeeter as white woman gives the respect for it and she is struggles by writing a controversial book view as the colored maid with helping from Aibileen, Minny for the first maid who interviewed by Skeeter and also the other colored maid.
Third, in The Help movie (2011) Tate Taylor also gives the effect of the reaction that is elaborated on the second conclusion. There is a good effect for good efforts. Nevertheless, there is a bad effect on the bad ways in the social. Furthermore, the colored people also get surprise from the effort of Aibileen, especially, because she is so influence to other colored people to help writing controversial book by Skeeter. Aibileen and Minny gets awards from the other colored people for their brave. And Skeeter also gets the job in New York. It’s the good result from their effort.
