CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

A. Background of the Study

_Bahasa Indonesia_ has been heavily influenced by other languages. English language is one of the most influential and dominant languages in the world and it has influenced _Bahasa Indonesia_ very much. As a global language, English is supposed more prestigious than other languages. Thus, someone who speaks using it is considered as more sociable and modern too (Crystal, 2002).

Many educated people in Indonesia often use English words when they speak _Bahasa Indonesia_. Even many buildings or clubs in Indonesia are branded on English language in order to make it more international and modern.

In Indonesia, there are many communities that have certain identity and significant characteristics, especially on language use. It can found that many public figures mix English and _Bahasa Indonesia_ when they have a speech or being interviewed. On newsletter and magazine, it is often found a code mixing.

Western lifestyle has imbued Indonesian people too. Many Indonesians, especially from young executive class in big cities, have western lifestyle in Indonesia. They not only adopt western lifestyle, but also its language too. Thus, they create new terms, both English and Indonesian used and understood by their own community.

Moamar Emka (2002) has depicted western lifestyle in Indonesia on his book, “Jakarta: Undercover 2”. He discusses much of the free sex life style and everything related with prostitution in Jakarta. Here are the examples of phenomena in the use of sexual terms written on English: _afternoon sex, nudies party, hostess club, erotic nurses party, guys trophy, guy nite and lesbian society, Melrose place hi-call girls, clubbing_, etc. The use of English language makes the writer interested studying the use of them.
